

IT TAKES A WHOLE YEAR TO PUBLISH THE SAVITAR

It takes a year to prepare the 1917 Savitar. In that time an editor and his assistants must collect, check and arrange by sections pictures of faculty members, organizations, classes and athletics; sort out kodak snapshots, poetry and jokes—all by April 1, so as to allow for publication by May 1.

According to this year's managing editor, Duke N. Parry, the Savitar is divided into thirty sections. Each section has sixteen pages. The first thirteen are finished, which means that the work is completed up to the graduate pictures.

The classes will be in panels, each consisting of seven pictures. Every photograph is checked alphabetically, and each panel is sent to the engraver in a separate envelope. A record is kept of every photograph that is sent out, and this is used for preparing individual write-ups for members of the classes.

Organization pictures usually occupy a page. They are mounted on a card and reduced by the engraver in accordance with the size of the group and the amount of space available. Sophomore assistants see that the organizations have their photographs made. The cartoon work is done by students in the School of Journalism. After they are checked, labeled and mounted on cartoon cuts, they are sent to the engraver at Buffalo, N. Y., who sends the proofs back for inspection. After inspection they are sent to the printer at Kansas City.

Pictures of the football team were made last week. The track and baseball pictures will be made this week. The yearbook, the editor says, will

Mr. Parry thinks that few "peaches," or "pears" found wandering about the campuses can be missed by his kodak squad. He admits that he is a victim himself.

An editor has many experiences. "During the Savitar Queen Contest," he says, "I was repeatedly asked if I was neutral. Now I am called upon by the queens to offer suggestions as to their favorite photographs. I have finally convinced the Union Bank Note Company, the printers and designers of the yearbook, that the dedication of the Savitar is written up and must be kept a secret."

SPORT

The Tiger basketball team finished in second place in the Conference race by defeating Washington Friday night by a score of 31 to 22. Rough, hard play, which finally ended in a fist engagement, featured the game. Kling, Washington's football captain, and Shepard, the Tiger center, exchanged punches before they were separated by the members of both teams. The two men were put out of the game. The score at the end of the first half was 12 to 10 in favor of Missouri.

Captain Williams, playing his last game for the Old Gold and Black, was the star of the contest, scoring fifteen of the Tiger's points. Shepard also played well while in the game, registering ten points for Missouri.

Baseball Candidates Get Out-Door Work.

Taking advantage of the warm weather on Friday and Saturday, the baseball squad managed to get in some snappy out-door practice during the week-end. As this was the first out-door work of the season, the men attempted nothing strenuous, although at times several of the candidates found it difficult to regard the instructions to "take it easy."

In keeping with the practice of former seasons, there will be no cuts made in the baseball squad this year. Director C. L. Brewer believes in retaining all the men on the squad. By this method, even the unsuccessful candidates may have the pleasure of playing ball in the practice games, and this means that there will be more experienced men available for the next season.

Reads Bulletin, Makes Money.

All the eggs he wanted all the time—and $104 profit in one month—that is what University of Missouri Bulletin No. 76, written by Prof. H. L. Kempster on the "Feeding for Egg Production," made possible for H. F. Farnsworth, a cattle breeder of Blairtown, Mo. Mr. Farnsworth wrote to the College of Agriculture last summer for this advice on chicken raising and egg production. Now his 360 White Leghorns lay from eleven to thirteen dozen eggs daily and bring him more money than his livestock. Mr. Farnsworth was a short course student in agriculture here last year.

The Chinese Students' Monthly, a magazine edited and contributed to by Chinese students in the universities of the United States, contains an article on "The Future Live Stock Industry of China" by H. Lum Chung, a student in the College of Agriculture of the University.

N. Y. POLICEMEN STUDY LAW

Course Given at Columbia University Expected to Aid the Officers.

By United Press
NEW YORK, March 10.—Members of the New York police department have begun to study law at Columbia University. Commissioner Woods made a special arrangement with the Columbia Law School whereby the entire course will cost each policeman only $16, with $3 additional for books. The course will last sixteen weeks, with one two-hour period each week. Some law has heretofore been taught at the police training school, but the idea of an advanced course came from the policemen themselves. The law course will not be required by the department. It will be entirely optional with the man himself and must be pursued in hours when he is off duty.

The courses are given with the idea of training the policeman in the law as it is applied to his own particular duties so he may have a better understanding of his work.

Jefferson's Descendant Sends Book.

A book, "Thomas Jefferson, Architect," has been presented to the University Library by Clara A. Coolidge of Boston, a descendant of Thomas Jefferson. Jefferson is widely known as a statesman, but his architectural skill is little realized. The book consists of a large number of Jefferson's plans and studies in architecture collected by his great-grandson, Thomas Jefferson Coolidge, Jr., in addition there is an essay and notes by Fiske Kimball. The book is about 14 by 20 inches and 2 inches thick. The paper is thick and deckle-edged. There are several photographic reproductions of the original plans and drawings.

SENATE AMENDS TAX BILL

Measure for Levy on Munition Makers Is Practically Killed.

By United Press
JEFFERSON CITY, March 10.—The senate today practically killed the bill by which Governor Gardner hoped to tax munition makers in order to get revenue to maintain the national guard. An amendment was attached to the bill making it apply to munition contracts of the future and not those in force at present. Nearly all contracts are so worded as to cover a long period. The house engrossed the munitions bill but reduced the proposed tax of 10 per cent of gross receipts to 3 1-2 per cent. The house passed the Hawes bill to exterminate secret political organization by a vote of 117 to 3. J. H. Kunkel of Holt, F. Warren of Grundy and T. J. Schuedding of St. Louis all Republicans, voted "no."

Y. M. C. A. ELECTS DIRECTORS

Robert Barnhart and L. R. Fuller Tie for Place on Board.

Robert Barnhart and L. R. Fuller each received twenty-seven votes for the eighth student member of the Y. M. C. A. Board of Directors at the annual election yesterday. After four hours deliberation, the judges decided to allow the new board to settle the tie at the first meeting, April 10.

Dean Walter Williams, W. W. Miller, faculty representatives, and C. B. Rollins, Jr., local alumni representatives were elected unanimously. The student members elected were: Morris Dry, S. P. Dalton, Fred Gutekunst, Alex Hope, Slade Kendrick, Nathan Scarrett and Jesse Smith.

According to J. S. Moore, the secretary of the Y. M. C. A., the balloting was light but representative. Fifty votes were cast from the time the polls opened in the morning until they closed in the afternoon.

Gas Plant Here One of State's Oldest.

The Columbia Gas Works is one of the oldest gas plants in the state. It was started shortly after the Civil War. The first superintendent, Joseph Simmons, who is now living in Hannibal, lived above the plant. The stairway to his room was made of wood, and it is said by the old owners of the plant that "Joe" wore the stairway out going to bed because he had nothing to do.
